

Warren D. Haley

Warren D. Haley MD, of Winchester and Rockport, Mass., long-time eye physician and surgeon, died Tuesday, Dec. 17, at Grinnell Regional Medical Center of complications from diabetes.

A memorial service and reception will be held Jan. 18, 2003, at 11 a.m. at the Parish of the Epiphany, 70 Church St., Wincheser. Interment will be private. Memorial gifts may be made either to the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary or to the Parish of the Epiphany.

He was born on Flag Day, June 14, 1920, to the late Paul J.D. Haley MD and Cora Andrews Haley of Medford, Mass. He was a 1937 graduate of Medford High School, a 1941 graduate of Harvard College, and a 1943 graduate of Harvard Medical School. He was a veteran of World War II with the United States Army Medical Corps during which he worked at O'Reilly Burn Hospital in Springfield, Mo. After the war, he practiced in Brookline and then Winchester, serving on the staffs of Winchester Hospital and the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary until his retirement.

He also worked as a physician with the Grenfell Mission in Labrador and for a time served as the only ophthalmologist on the island of Nantucket. He was a fisherman and lobsterman and loved to sail in his boat "The Iris."

He was married for 49 years to Betty Ann Jack Haley who predeceased him.

He is survived by two daughters, Paula Osgood with her husband Russell of Grinnell and Ann E. Haley and partner Marie F. Muehlberger of Brookline; four grandchildren, Mollie, Josiah, Micah with his wife Lenore and Iain Osgood, and one sister Barbara A. Berry of Winchester. He also was predeceased by one brother Dr. Robert Haley. H-18 12-19-2002