Peggy was born August 15, 1930, in Grinnell to Barnett and Maude Bennington Latham. She was raised on a farm near Grinnell and attended rural school before graduating from Grinnell High School with the Class of 1949.

On July 23, 1950, she married Derald E. Weaver in Newburg. The couple lived in Newburg and she was a mother of two sons and a homemaker. Later, she worked as a cook at the Newburg School and spent 32 years in the dietary department and as a nurse's aide for Grinnell General Hospital. Following her retirement she moved to Grinnell and resided at Windsor Manor.

Peggy was a member of the Newburg Congregational Church, the Gilman American Legion Auxiliary and the U. Go. I Go Club in Newburg. She enjoyed gardening, cooking, decorating cakes, creating stained glass artwork and painting. She loved spending time with her grandchildren and raising miniature pincher dogs.

Survivors include two sons, Charles Weaver of Orlando, Fla., and Ron Weaver of Grinnell; five grandchildren; four great grandchildren; and two brothers, Don Latham and Larry Latham, both of Grinnell.

She was preceded in death by her husband.
