

H-R July 17, 1986
Illinois man dies in mishap
JOHN LUKAS
on farm near Searsboro

A Northbrook, Ill., man died Monday evening when the tractor he was driving toppled, pinning him beneath it. July 17

John Lukas, 60, who had been visiting at the William Gray residence on Rte. 2, Searsboro, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Robert Carney, Poweshiek County medical examiner.

The accident occurred at 9:45 p.m. 2½ miles south of Searsboro on a gravel road.

Authorities said Lukas appeared to have driven into a driveway when one of the tractor's wheels went into a ditch, causing the vehicle to roll.

Rev. D. Duane Churchman officiating. Graveside services were conducted at 2:30 p.m. Thursday at Hazelwood Cemetery.

The Kaiser-Corson Funeral

Home certificate. She had taught in Janesville and had lived in the Waverly area since 1965.

There are no immediate survivors.