C. O. Macy Of Lynnville Is Dead

Prominent Resident Passes Away
After Brief Illness From Pneumonia; Funeral Held Today

— 1936
Lynnville, Ia., Feb. 10, Special:
Charles O. Macy, 69, died February 7, following a seven day illness with pneumonia. He was the son of Seth and Abbie Gause Macy and was born in the Hazel Dell neighborhood. He graduated from the Lynnville Academy, later attending Grinnell College. He was married Sept. 13, 1890, to Anna Newby, who passed away January 14, 1932. He was a birthright member of the Friends church. For forty-eight years he was associated with his brother, E. B. Macy, in the livestock, grain and lumber business in Lynnville.

Four years ago he and E. B. Macy and Arie Terpstra organized the Lynnville Seed Company, which has grown to do work all over the state. He was a member of the Lynnville board of education, serving as president for three years.

Mr. Macy is survived by two sons, Carrol of Sully and Ward of Gainesville, Florida, one sister, Mrs. Ella Allec, two brothers, E. B. and Harlan, all of Lynnville. One son, Dr. J. Willis Macy of Boston, Mass., passed away August 10, 1931.

Funeral services were held from the Friends church at Lynnville at 2 o'clock this afternoon with Rev. Willard Reynolds of West Branch and Rev. George Woods, pastor of the Lynnville church, in charge. Burial was in the Woodland cemetery.
