George Reynolds, Former Resident, Dies In Denver

Word was received in Grinnell Thursday of the death that morning of George A. Reynolds of Denver, Colo.

The deceased was the brother of Mrs. C. S. Myers, Ben H. Reynolds and Harry M. Reynolds, all of Grinnell. Born in Grinnell, he spent his youth here and moved west about 60 years ago.

Until his retirement several years ago, he was employed as superintendent of electrical equipment for the Colorado and Southern Railroad. Before leaving Grinnell, he was associated for a time with Billy Robinson, Grinnell pioneer aviator, in a bicycle and machine repair shop.

In addition to his sister and brothers, he is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. William Boorman, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at Denver and burial was in that city.
