

Last Rites Held for Guy Barclay at Brooklyn Today

Guy Barclay, former Grinnellian, died Monday noon in his home at Minneapolis, Minn., after a six months' illness. Funeral services were held this afternoon at Brooklyn, his original home, with burial at the IOOF cemetery.

From 1923 to 1932, Mr. Barclay was a grocer here, owning the store now known as the Cut Rate. He had purchased it of Grant Ramsey and sold out seven years ago to join with King Porter, another Grinnellian, in operating a Des Moines restaurant, which they purchased jointly. He left the restaurant business about a year ago.

Besides his widow, Ethel F. Barclay, and daughter Barbara, Mr. Barclay is survived by two brothers, Carl of Chicago and Glen of Washington; and two sisters, Mrs. Paul Deig of Chicago and Mrs. Willard Lane of Oakland, Calif.
