Marvin L. Brookbank was born Aug. 10, 1940, in Ida Grove to Clarence and Mae Welding Brookbank. He was baptized and confirmed in the Saint John's Lutheran Church of Storm Lake.

Growing up in Ida Grove, Marvin attended Ida Grove Public Schools. On Nov. 8, 1959, Marvin was united in marriage with Judith Kay Sander, in the Immanuel Lutheran Church of Schleswig, and they had three children.

For 20 years Marvin was employed as a meat cutter at various locations for Fafeway Grocery Stores. After relocating to Gillette, Wyo., Marvin continued cutting meat for Albertson's for 25 years.

Marvin liked river fishing, gardening, the Chicago Bears, and looking after his lawn and flowers while enjoying the great outdoors. He enjoyed tent-camping trips to Deadwood and Keyhole South Dakota, but his true treasure in life was his family.

He is survived by his wife of 56 years, Judi Sander Brookbank of Ida Grove; children Debby Cooper of Grinnell, Leesa Johnston of Eagle Grove, and Michael Brookbank of Grinnell; five grandchildren; three great-grandsons; brothers Don Brookbank and Darold "Cork" Brookbank; sisters Shirley Danielson and Sharon Ziegmann; and extended family and friends.
