Tracy Truman Rosedale

Tracy Truman Rosedale, 62, of rural Albion, a man who loved deeply, but more so, was loved by so many. He left his earthly life to go to his heavenly home on the afternoon of Thursday, February 13, 2020, at his home.

Funeral services will be held at 11:00 a.m. Friday, February 21st, at the New Hope Christian Church with Pastor Jim Bonser, Stavanger Friends Church, officiating. Visitation was scheduled to be held from 4 to 7:00 p.m. Thursday at the church, 3901 South Center Street, Marshalltown. For condolences, please visit www.mitchellfh.com. The Mitchell

Family Funeral Home is caring for Tracy and his family. Ph. 641-844-1234.

He was born on June 22, 1957, to Truman Oliver and Betty Jean (Rubenbauer) Rosedale, and resided near Gilman, Iowa. He attended school in Grinnell-Newburg and graduated from SEMCO High School with the class of 1976.

He married Kathy Sue (Sietmann) Rosedale and together they were blessed with two children, Brett Oliver and Raejean Sue Rosedale. Throughout his life, Tracy and Kathy raised their children together in collaboration.

He later married and cherished Bambi (Paul) Rosedale until her passing on September 9th, 2003. For the last several years he loved and cared for Lana Anderson and her five children.

Tracy studied at and graduated from Iowa State University with a bachelor's in agribusiness and political science. After graduating he came back home to help his dad, Truman Rosedale, with the family farms near Albion and Gilman. In addition, he had been driving a grain truck for his cousin, Rick Rubenbauer. He actively served on the Stavanger Church Board and the Marshall County Soil Conservation Board for two terms.

Tracy loved to cheer on his Cyclones no matter how they were doing. He was also a long-suffering Vikings fan. He took pride in his son Brett's accomplished wrestling career from youth to college. Recently he could be found cheering on his grandchildren in all their activities.

Tracy had many friends and treasured them all. The McGrew family was an extension of his own. Tracy was a true caregiver and was only a phone call away for any of his family and friends. Many people will remember his blue truck coming to plow their driveways after a snowstorm. He never stopped there, he went the extra mile and checked on everyone to make sure they were safe and sound. He loved hearing from his grandchildren and keeping up with all their busy schedules, hardly missing any activities.
