OBITUARY.

Jane Copeland.

Lynnville Star: Jane Rose was born in Henry county, Indiana, Oct. 27, 1837. She was united in marriage with William Copeland about 53 years ago, and until his death three and a half years ago they had walked the way of life pleasantly together.

In the year 1867 they removed to Iowa, settling east of Lynnville, and in that community most of their years have been spent.

To this worthy couple were born three children: Emma, James, and Oscar, the latter having died one year ago next Sunday. Since the death of her husband, Aunt Jane has lived with her daughter, Mrs. James, who with her children has done everything possible to add to her comfort and help that loneliness may not be so keenly felt.

Grandma Copeland was converted when a girl of fourteen and united with the (New Light) Christian church. Later in life she united with the United Brethren, and still later she joined the Friends church, of which she was a loyal member until the time of her death.

On the first day of last July she was to spend the day with the daughters of Robert Meredith, Mary and Lucile. In some way unexplained, she fell; while apparently there was nothing more than severe bruises resulting from the fall, yet since that time her decline has been more rapid, at times her mind being so clouded that she did not know her own daughter.
