Mrs. H. A. Field.

Mrs. H. A. Field died at the family home, 328 Park street, this morning at 4:30, after a long and agonizing illness. Funeral services will be held at the home Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock, conducted by Professor J. D. Swoops. Cremation of the body will take place in Davenport on Thursday. Deceased leaves a husband and a large circle of friends to mourn her departure. She has no near relatives. Dr. Mary Harding and Mrs. Francella McColloms, of Newton, are related, as are also Mr. and Mrs. Dana Reed of Coon Rapids, and Mrs. F. M. Reed of Boone.

Mary Winn Carleton was born in Boston, Mass., May 17, 1844. Most of her life was spent in Boston and vicinity. She was married in 1904 to H. A. Field of this city and this has been her home since that time. Disease seized upon her frame some three years ago and, for the past year, at least, she has hardly been free from discomfort and pain for an hour. Death was a sweet release to her and she gladly welcomed it. Her faith in immortality was living and undimmed by pain. During the past month, in which she has not been able to sit up for a minute, the Woman's Relief Corps and other friends have been very kind in sending her beautiful flowers and potted plants and she has received them in the same loving spirit in which they were sent. But it has been her especial request that no one should spend money for flowers to be laid upon her casket but that such money should buy flowers to be taken to living sufferers while they can still appreciate and enjoy them.
