George Gore, 77 Brooklyn Man Dies Saturday

H&R Mar 7, 57

A Brooklyn man, George L. Gore, 77, died at a Grinnell nursing home Saturday, March 2, and funeral services were conducted Monday at South English.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Chase Weeber of Brooklyn with whom he had made his home for the past several years; a son, Leroy Gore of Sauk City, Wis.; four grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Born near South English on Jan. 14, 1880, he was one of five children. Until 1910, he was employed as a barber but then entered the embalming and funeral director's business. He was active in that profession for 25 years and later served as a salesman for a casket firm.

Mr. Gore was an invalid, having been injured in an automobile accident some time ago. He had also broken a hip in a fall. He had been a patient in a nursing home for several months.
