

Joseph Horn Passes 8-3 Away At Newton

We notice with regret the death of Joseph Horn at Newton Friday afternoon. Mr. Horn suffered a stroke of paralysis some time ago and from this stroke he never recovered. He came to Jasper County in 1884 and located in Richland Township a few miles north of Lynnville. Mr. Horn was a man of keen mind. He became interested in politics and was recognized as one of the real Republican workers of his time. He first went to Newton as deputy auditor for Frank Fisk and afterwards filled the office himself. He was a most likable man, kind, gentle, and always helpful. The writer became acquainted with him in the '90s and has ever since been glad to regard him as one of his warm and trusted friends. He served as Cashier of the new Jasper County Savings Bank until it was later sold. He then engaged in business and yet retained an active interest in politics. He was a frequent delegate to state conventions, and everywhere in all that he did he maintained the character and the reputation of an honest man.
