Mrs. Ella McGrory
Dies Here After An Extended Illness.

DEC 31, 1931

Mrs. Ella McGrory of the Chelsea-Brooklyn neighborhood died Thursday in a local hospital where she had been a patient for ten months. She would have been 82 years old in February. She was the widow of James McGrory and was closely linked with the Flanagan and Comerford families. Her son, Will McGrory, married Mary Comerford, daughter of Ed Comerford, and her son, James, married Verona Flanagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Flanagan. Her granddaughter, Gerry McGrory, lives with Mr. and Mrs. Leo Flanagan and is employed by the Farmers Mutual Reinsurance Co.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning in St. Patrick's church in Brooklyn with burial in the Calvary cemetery there.
