The son of Jefferson and Mary Oneyear, he was born May 14, 1877, at Millville, Iowa, and moved with his family to Dubuque where he lived until leaving for the state of Wyoming where he was a sheep herder on a large ranch.

He returned to Iowa and had lived in the Carnforth community for 45 years, working on the farm and on the Northwestern railroad as long as his health permitted.

Funeral services were held at the McAninch chapel in Victor Friday afternoon at two o'clock in charge of the Rev. Robert Bowers. Mrs. George Keller was organist and accompanied Arthur Lang singing "In The Garden" and "Abide With Me".

Interment was in the I.O.O.F. cemetery at Victor with Wayne Colmage, Floyd Fiser, Harvey Spading, Max Dolmage, Louis De Coster and Frank Roshek serving as pallbearers. Mrs. Lola Bushnell and Mrs. Margaret McBride were in charge of flowers.
