—After months' of suffering Morey Sloan died last evening from tuberculosis of the limb. Some weeks ago he was brought from his home in the country south of this city to the home of Nelson Frost in order that he might receive better medical treatment. An operation was necessary upon his limb yesterday from the effects of which he did not recover. The time and place of the funeral services has been changed and will be held at the home of Nelson Frost in this city at 10:30 tomorrow. The deceased was a son of John Sloan. G-H
